Does Life Get Tedious?

Life sometimes gets tedious. I know it happens to the best of us. You find that somehow everything leaves a flat taste in the mouth. You feel that you are clinging to the apron strings of a drab grey world of routine, convention and inhibition.

There are various things to do, excluding the last but sometimes necessary resort of doing away with oneself. A trip to some enchanted place, a monumental binge, or a flouting of convention like Lady Godiva who, if I remember rightly, rode horseback without a stich of clothing through the streets. These are sure fire things to get rid of tedium.

But then you've found you've spent last week's rent; therefore the werewithal with which to pursue said binges or to hop a slow freighter on the outgoing tide is sadly lacking. Also you are not made of such daring stuff as Lady Godiva. Very few people are.

So you find yourself with a dollar and change. So you step into the American institution, the movie theatre. It may offer escapism for a couple of hours and entertainment, of a sort.

For Grown-Ups Only

A movie that is quite ideal for escapism is "Bitter Rice" which I took special pains to see last week. My immediate reaction to the film was one of amusement, an after-effect that the producers obviously did not intend to instill.

Bitter Rice, as you've probably seen or read about by now, is the Italian movie with English sub-titles that stars an awesome animal called Silvana Mangano. This Silvana, it says in the publicity blurbs, is a combination of Betty Grable, Lana Turner, Jane Russel, and Rita Hayworth. In other words, she is the sexiest thing that's come along to titillate male orbs since Jean Harlow.

Now, in talking about Bitter Rice, I find it quite silly to speak of anything but the magnificent Miss Mangano who dominates the entire picture with heaving bosom, black silk-stockinged legs, and her wide and rather generous expanse of ungirdled figure.

I found the entire spectacle rather amusing but as a film, it suffers badly in comparison with the memorable "Bicycle Thief" with which all Italian films, unfortunately, must be compared in the final analysis.

The story, if it matters, concerns itself with the grim struggle for life among the female rice workers in Northern Italy and especially of one girl to escape the sordidness of such life.

Unashamed Sex

The best feminine comment on the film that I've heard was that it was embarassing to look at Miss Mangano but I think the male viewpoint which is naturally more pertinent in this case, is one of ashamed and healthy joy. Mine was one of amusement because of Director Guiseppe's De Santis' obviously belabored efforts in forcing Miss Mangano to go through her robust antics in portraying the Italian version of a woman's woman or a man's woman, for that matter.

The sex in the visual form of Miss Mangano in this film and I don't think the mention of this word is harmful in the light of progress in modern thought, is quite healthy in its aspect, quite unlike Hollywood sex in its form of slinky, self-contained, tightly-girdled femme fatales fresh off the mass production line.

Time Magazine whose slanted views I usually do not agree with was quite concerned in a recent story with the lack of "it", "oomph" or what have you, among Hollywood's so-called feminine movie stars and cited as its only hope the happy one of Ava Gardner. But if the Italians continue to produce such astonishing things as Silvana Mangano, Hollywood's already tired reputation of possessing the brightest stable of femininity will be completely shattered. Which could be an excellent thing.

But life must be beautiful along the Mediterranean shores. All of which you can glimpse for less than a dollar.

First Nisei To Appear On TV

Girl Probably First Nisei to Teach in Vanc.

VANCOUVER — Tomiko Nakamura recently was appointed to the teaching staff of Lord Tennyson public school in this city.

It is believed that Miss Nakamura is the first Nisei ever to become a teacher in Vancouver.

The daughter of Mr. Genzaburo Nakamura, proprietor of Alma Florists, she graduated from Vancouver Normal School this summer with high marks.

Chatham Girl Performs With Trio on Detroit TV

CHATHAM, Ont. — The first Canadian Nisei to appear on television is a young girl from Chatham, Ont.

She is Miss Patsy Baba who appeared on the "Happy Hour Club", a daily program over Station WXYZ-TV, Channel 7, in Detroit, Mich., on Thursday, Sept. 27.

Miss Baba performed with the "First Presbyterian Children's Hour Trio" of which she is a regular member. The trio in its debut on TV, sang "April Showers" and Miss Baba was given the greatest length of time on the screen.

The trio will again appear on the same program on Thursday, Oct. 11, at 2:30 p.m., E.D.T. Japanese Canadians in Kent and Essex counties can tune in to the Detroit TV station.

The young Nisei girl sings every Sunday with the trio which has a weekly program over the local radio station, CFCO Chatham, sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church of Chatham.

Miss Baba is the immediate past president of the Ontario Canadian Girls In Training Group (C.G.I.T.) and is the young sister of Tony who is the first Nisei in Canada to be accepted in the Royal Military College in Kingston, Ont. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Takajiro Baba of Chatham.

Cemetery Revokes Ban On Japanese Burials

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The JACL won another victory in the battle against racial discrimination in cemeteries last week when the officers of the Fort Lincold Cemetery announced that it had revoked its former policy and that it would "now accept persons of Japanese ancestry for interment on the same basis as others."

The cemetery which is considered the most beautiful private cemetery in the area, had refused to accept the body of an Issei for burial last year.

TO REBUILD FINANCE EMPIRE

Tokyo — Four Japanese trading companies, once part of the giant Mitsubushi financial oligarchy, announced that they will amalgamate soon.

Mitsubushi and other financial empires were broken by Gen. McArthur's "anti-trust" department early in the occupation. The Allies held them responsible for aiding Japanese aggression.

GI-Japanese Romances Going Strong in Japan

TOKYO — Love seems to be blooming at a rapid rate in this country.

Romances between American soldiers and Japanese girls probably will result in 6,000 marriages before the current GI Brides Act expires in March, 1952, it was predicted by an official of the United States consulate last week.

The U.S. consular officials have recorded almost 5,000 marriages in Japan since the occupation started in 1945. It has been reported that the marriage rate has spiralled so much that the consulate is about to run out of application forms.

In March, 1952, the current law allowing soldiers to take their foreign brides back to the United States on a non-quota basis will expire unless Congress extends it.

Since foreign-born persons of Japanese descent are not eligible for naturalization at the present time and Japanese immigration is excluded, Japanese spouses of U.S. military personnel cannot enter the United States except on a non-quota basis under the present GI Brides Act.

American soldiers of Japanese parentage form a large percentage of the GI husbands.

Japanese Films For Occidental Audiences?

It is reported that a number of otustanding Japanese movies are being given English titles ostensibly for English-speaking audiences. With the popularity of foreign films now reaching new highs, it's quite possible that some of the better Japanese film stories might be shown to non-Japanese audiences.

The prize-winning Japanese screen production "Rashomin" which was called the best film in 1951 at the film festival in Venice is slated to get English titles for possible extensive showing abroad.

During the signing of the peace treaty in San Francisco, the Bridge Theatre showed a full-length Japanese movie "Kanashiki Kuchibuye" with English titles. It's the first postwar Japanese film to be given the English treatment.

It's also reported that Yoshiko Rikoran Yagaguchi's "Akatsuki No Dasso," may also be presented soon with English titles.

ACROSS MY MIND . . .

By Jack Nakamoto

Mr. Ken Kendall, an official of the National Film Board, invited me to a lecture and demonstration on group dynamics of which I knew nothing. I went to it and came away feeling that here was food for serious thinking.

The gist of group dynamics, as I understand it, is that it permits each person in a given group to have his say on a given problem in an equitable manner and the group leader or a 'stimulator' acting on the consensus of the group stirs their interaction toward achieving the desired end. The stimulator also checks the aggressive type from monopolizing the discussion and carefully encourages the shy to express himself.

As opposed to [illegible] system where in a leader [illegible] orders and his [illegible] automatically obey them, group dynamics tries to pool the mental resources of each and every one in a group for the common good. It is simply applying the rule that two heads are better than one. In a group, of course, there will be many heads; hence, the net result theoretically should be as many times better as there are heads.

In Bethel, Mass., group dynamics has been discreetly undergoing research for the last five years and a human-relation laboratory has been set up where various groups actually practise the doctrine and their proceedings thereof are recorded on sound recording machines for later analysis by staff psychologists. Outstanding examples of the successful use of some aspects of group dynamics are organizations such as the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and the U.S. Nursing Association.

Mr. Kendall beblieves that the principles of group dynamics should be brought home to the people in democracies for practical uses. Such practice by the rank and file, he feels, will eventually serve as a bulwark against the threats of communism.

Like any other doctrine, it sounds immensely fascinating and idealistic, but whether it can be practised with success on a wide scale remains to be seen.

"THE LOST GENERATION"

The New Canadian in an editorial on February 16, 1949, expounded on the theme of Nisei writers.

"Writing is a satisfying hobby but Nisei writers have never been too plentiful. You can count the current contribution to The New Canadian on your fingers. If you're one of them, we'd say you belong to that rather select company of Nisei whose hobby is writing.

"There are a number of people who we think are capable of turning out good stuff, but there is quite a gulf between ability and execution, between imagination and getting them down on paper".

Now over two and a half years later, the fact that there is a scarcity of Nisei writers is only too apparent.

Since the beginning of The New Canadian about twelve years ago, the paper has always been naturally closely allied with the emanation of writers from the Nisei as it has always offered a ready medium for any literary effort. It has been therefore, a good criterion upon which to judge the faults and merits of Nisei writing.

But one thing is only too obvious. The post-war years have marked the fading away of the old writers. We could appropriately call them "the lost generation".

The older group who grew up with the awareness of the pain that came from the problems arising out of the pre-far and evacuation Nisei have dropped out of the writing field, as far as the Nisei newspaper is concerned. True, the issues and the problems are not as acute now as then. In fact today the problems that face the Nisei are quite negligible in comparison.

But we have seen the fading away from the Nisei writing scene of a group of articulate and sensitive writers who had something to say. Perhaps they have fulfilled the promises of their talented outpourings. This could only have been inevitable.

But what is more of a pressing problem is the fact that with this fading of the old guard, there has been few young and eager recruits to fill the void with the same talent and spirit which they had shown. Where are the T.M.K.'s, the R.I's, the F.A.M.'s, the T.F.'s, the J.T.O.'s, the K.W.'s, the K.D.s, the "Peg's", the "Cinderella's", and the others whose writings helped to form Nisei thought?

Has the harsh and uncompromising realism of today's mode of life with its preoccupation with material things taken the romanticism and idealism that may have prompted the lamented group to take up the mighty pen, from the minds and the aesthetic sense of today's Niseis? Or has creative writing become stagnant among the Nisei?

Today the contributors to The New Canadian can certainly be easily counted on one's finger. It is a strange and terrifying thought that the Nisei have produced few writers with vitality and fervor from its ranks in recent years.

True, members of the "old guard" have been known to raise their writing arms from the gentle impediments of responsibilities such as children, marriage and business but only too infrequently. True we have come up with promising young writers but only spasmodically and their writings have been rarely sustained.

There is a definite vacuum then that Nature has not filled. We only hope that this somewhat pessimistic appraisal can be proved wrong. We really hope so.

The Great Nisei Novel

By Larry Tajiri of the Pacific Citizen

One day some years ago in New York City Pearl Buck told us that the best way to get the Nisei story before the American people would be to write it in the form of a novel. If the book proved successful, from the standpoint of critical acceptance and public approval, it would burgeon into a public relations project, reaching the public consciousness via all of the related media of communication, including the press, the radio and the motion picture screen.

Miss Buck, whose "The Good Earth" and many other novels set against the landscape of China have had a profound influence in broadening the range of American interest and sympathy in the people of Asia, gave her advice at a time (before the warfront dispatches concerning the 442nd Combat Team and other Nisei GIs were published in the press) when the tom-toms of prejudice were still sounding in the West and it was a difficult thing to try to tell the Nisei side of the story above the din and clamor of the hate-mongers.

At that time, in the early years of World War II, the situation of the Nisei was in flux and it would have been admittedly difficult for anyone caught in the chain of events set in motion by the mass evacuation to write with the perspective which only the passing of time can obtain. Today, nearly a decade after the evacuation experience, the Nisei story of those harried years lies ready for the novelist's inquiry and imagination, like the dead cities of Arabia awaiting the anthropologist's shovel.

There was a time, many midnights ago, with other Nisei in newspaper work when we would sit around coffee-cups in the all-night hash-houses on First Street in Los Angeles, noodles in San Francisco's Grant Avenue or beer at Izzy Gomez' to talk about the many books that were to be written. It was generally agreed that a Nisei theme lacked drama and intensity. Nothing had happened to the Nisei that had not happened to Saroyan's Armenians or John Fante's Italians. It was to be doubted, in those more carefree days between the two World Wars, if anything would ever happen to the Nisei as a group which would be of national interest. Then the big event did come along and the participants in the post-midnight coffee sessions were caught, with all the other Nisei, in the contradictions of history. None, to our knowledge, has produced a book on the mass evacuation of 1942 or is working on one, although all are still laboring on the periphery of literary endeavor, or in the marginal fields of journalism and public relations.

Crossroads' columnists Kats and Kango Kunitsugu [illegible] recently on this subject of the Nisei novel yet unborn, noting that it will not be long before the 10th anniversary of the mass evacuation.

". . . anyone who has any literary aspirations will see the makings of a great novel in the Nisei story," wrote the Kunitsugus. "The Nisei experience teams with elements that fairly cry out to be built into a great, human story. The conflict of two cultures as different as East and West within a person's makeup, the love for one's birthplace that no amount of adverse treatment can change. The philosophy of life that one must fashion to compromise ideals with life's realities. They are all there, waiting for the architect of words to distill them into a tale that would have the university of all human experience."

In her first novel which will be published next week by Exposition Press in New York, Shelley Ota tells the story of a Japanese family in Hawaii which illumines a facet of American life hitherto untouched in our literature. Mrs. Ota's book, "Upon Their Shoulders," is the first novel of importance to be written by a Nisei. It takes Taro Sumida and his wife, Haru, from the time of their arrival from Japan as bonded laborers in a feudal plantation economy up to the present day.

Although there have been at least two novels and several works of non-fiction inspired by the mass evacuation, none—with the exception of Mine Okubo's graphic "Citizen 13660" (Columbia University Press, 1946)—have been by a Nisei writer. Miss Okubo's book consisted of some 200 drawings of the evacuees and of assembly center life which were accompanied by short, pithy captions. The combination provided a picture of the evacuation experience which the novelist would have difficulty in matching with words alone. Karen Kehoe, who was a WRA worker at the Poston camp, wrote "City in the Sun" (Dodd, Mead, 1947) on a fellowship, while Florence Crannell Mean's story of Sue Ohara and the evacuation "The Moved-Outers (Houghton, Mifflin, 1945) was directed at a teen-age audience.

In the field of non-fiction Carey McWilliams' "Prejudice: The Japanese Americans" (Little, Brown, 1945) is an authorative study of the whole history of anti-Japanese prejudice on the Pacific Coast which was culminated by the evacuation. Morton Grodzins' "Americans Betrayed" (University of Chicago, 1949) examines the political and economic factors which influenced the decision for mass evacuation. Both Mr. McWilliams and Mr. Grodzins are of the opinion that mass evacuation, the betrayal of not alone a minority but of our democracy as well, was not a matter of military security.

The history of the Nisei and Issei and their wartime experience is told by Bradford Smith in his "Americans from Japan" (Lippincott, 1948). Mr. Smith's book is a history of the Japanese American communities of Hawaii and the mainland, beginning with the arrival of Manjiro Nakahama, the first Japanese to reach the United States, who stepped

High Cost Of Racial Bias

OTTAWA — Racial and religious discrimination in industry costs the United States close to $30 billion a year, according to Elmo Roper, noted American public opinion analyst, quoted by "Labor Reports", New York.

In addition to the loss of purchasing power brought about by low wages and limited job opportunities, Mr. Roper cites the wasteful expense of maintaining segregated schools, housing, hospitals and other public facilities. He also points to the high cost of crime, delinquency, sickness and social maladjustment which can be traced to prejudice and discrimination.

Other high costs of prejudice, Mr. Roper states, are borne by industry where increased operating costs, quick turnover, wildcat strikes and stoppages are at times a result of open conflict between workers of varying backgrounds, races and religions. "When the rank-and-file is divided and wrangling in a maze of personality clashes, the state of disagreeableness permeates almost every phase of work," he noted. "Tensions mount. Morale sags. Productivity will probably fall off."

Letters To The Editor

Extolls Peace Treaty

Editor, The New Canadian:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my deep appreciation to Canada on the signing of the Japanese Peace Treaty.

Since the anxiously awaited Japanese Peace Treaty has been signed at San Francisco recently, I believe the Japanese people to be joyful in seeing Japan regain her complete sovereignty that it has overcome the bitter memories of the war.

This difficult task has been completed successfully in spite of the various demands from some countries. Credit should be to the leaders and drafters of the Peace Treaty. I would like to extend my appreciation therefore, to the U.S. and [illegible] as well as Canada.

The fate of a new Japan has arisen from the judgements of this treaty. The friendly gestures that have been shown to Japan have been beyond her expectations. Japan has now [illegible] family of free nations.

I think the Japanese [illegible] are very grateful [illegible] which has shown a friendly attitude to Japan during [illegible] ference.

I sincerely hope [illegible] will come when [illegible] of Canada towards [illegible] paid.

擴聲機が、急にしやべり出して汽車が入つて來ると知らせた。それらしく、遠い闇の中に目玉のやうに光る照火が徐々に近づきながら、大きくなつて來るのが見えた。伴子は改めて振り向いて、左衛子を探して見た。立つてゐるプラットホームの下から、重量のある汽車の振動がからだにひびいて來てゐた。

二等車は空いてゐて、樂々と座席を取ることが出來た。遅れて左衛子が乗つて來ても席がなくなる心配はないので、あけてある窓から首を出して待つてゐると、發車の合圖のベルが鳴つた。

プラットフォームには見送りの人たちがのこつてゐるだけであつた。

別の車に乗つた雄吉が入つて來た。

「來なかつたのですか」

やがて走り出した汽車がトンネルに入つたので、窓を閉めるのを急いで手傳つてくれた。煤がどこからかもれて入つて來るので伴子はハンケチを出して鼻と口をかくした。雄吉は何もしないでゐたが昔がひどいので默つて天井を仰いでゐた。

トンネルを出ると、どこでもいそがしく窓をあけて外の風を迎へた。

「遅れたんですかね。切符はあつたのでせう？」

これまでにして左衛子が父を避けてゐるのを、伴子は不自然で不可解のことのやうに感じて來てゐた。心配してくれてゐる雄吉には、用でも出來たのでせうと告げて、別に事情を話さなかつた。

雄辯大會はよい

トロント市協では來る十一月十八日（日）夜にリジョン・ホールで懸賞つき雄辯大會を開催することになつた。

賞金は奨學金の形で、一等百弗、二等五十弗、三等二十五弗、四等十五弗、五等十弗。演説の題目は何んでもよい、時間は十分から十五分まで、出演者の資格はオンタリオ州内の日系で二十歳以下のもの、十月三十一日が參加申込みの締切りで、カレッヂ街六一のトロント市協事務所から申込用紙が得られる。

これはトロント市協の毎年の行事とする筈で、賞金のほかに優勝盃を出し、來年からは、優勝盃爭奪の雄辯大會にもなるわけである。

雄辯大會は、すでにアルバータ市協が今年の春に舉行して大成功をおさめ、青少年の社會問題に對する關心を高め指導者育成の上に大きな寄與をした。東部では初めての試みであるが、同じような効果を舉げ得られるように期待したいものである。

今から二十年、三十年前には、日系人の間でも演説會が可なり盛んであつた。人々はそれを通して勉強もし、社會問題を批判する力を養つたものであつた。それが今頃ではさつぱり行われないし、この頃の世相でもあろうが、デモクラチックに物事をはこんで行く上からは、大きな欠陥であると言える。ひとり、若い人人に限らず、一世の間でも、まさか「雄辯會」では氣がひけるであろうが、時々演説會を開いて大いに言論を戰わせ、社會に生き生きした氣分を持たせることが必要であろう。

筆の上での討究も結構である。ニューカナデアンの「フォラム」らんを通して、讀者が忌憚なき意見を交換することも望ましい。

イラン石油問題を國連安保理で討議

【ニューヨーク發】イラン石油紛爭問題はいよいよ國連安保理事會に持ち出されることになり、英國代表はイラン國政府が十月四日までにアバダン精油所からすべての英國技師の引揚げを強要する無法を訴えると共に、一方老齢のイラン國マサデグ首相もあるいは國連本部に乗り込んでイラン國の辯護に立つことになっている。しかしロンドンよりの別電によると英國がこの石油紛爭問題を國連にもち出してきたことに就て米國は肩を持とうという態度をいささかも示していないことを英國では憂慮している。米國はこの問題の妥當公正な解決のためには努力するが、英國側の要求を支持するとはほのめかしておらない。もし石油問題が上提されるとすればソ連は拒否權を行使して決議通過を妨害するだろうとも見られており、成行きはきわめて注目されている

「保守黨が勝てば戰爭だ」

英勞働黨の選擧得票スローガン

十月二十五日を選擧日として勞働黨および保守黨はそれぞれ政綱を發表、いよいよはげしい選擧戰をくりひろげつつあるが、チャーチル氏のひきいる保守黨の一大約束は産業國營化反對、鐵およびスチールの國營化解消をかかげている。これに反して勞働黨は平和を確保し、生活費を低下することを政綱の中心としているのであるが、勞働黨の過激派の首領であるビバン氏はチャーチル氏の保守黨が政權をにぎると考えただけで恐ろしくなる、彼等が政府をとれば戰爭にまきこまれないと確信することはできず、國際的會議にチャーチル氏がのぞむと思ふだけでも不安であると選擧演説を行っている

休戰決裂に備えて

ブ參謀議長が前線視察

【東京發】朝鮮における制空權は最近めっきりソ連製ジェット機を多く繰り出してきた共産軍によっておびやかされつつあり、休戰會談は今度こそ何等かの進行を見るだろうといわれたがオタワパリで足踏み狀態の折柄、米軍統合參謀本部議長ブラッドレー元帥は先週末ソ連問題に關する米國務省の專門家チャーレス・ボーレンを伴って東京に飛來、リッヂウェー大將と重要懇談した、ワシントンではブラッドレー元帥は萬一休戰會談が決裂した場合に備える新作戰決定をリ大將にもたらしたものと觀測している。ブラッドレー元帥は一日朝鮮前線視察飛行にさきだち朝鮮休戰會談は共産軍の出方一つで成果を得るだろうが、共産軍がどう出るかはわからないと語った

患者の自殺ふえる

カナダ最大の傷病軍人病院で

五年前に竣工したカナダで最も大きく設備の整った傷病軍人病院サニーブルック病院では最近にいたり、七人の患者が自殺した事件がつづいて起ったので、患者に對する待遇が悪いのだという非難がおこり、カナダ歸還兵オンタリオ州支部長は歸還兵集會席上で「サニーブルック病院はトロント大學醫學生の教室であり患者は試験用に使われ、待遇はお話しにならない悪いものだ」と述べて歸還兵各支部から「患者待遇をただちに調査せよ」という不満の聲が高い病院當局ではいつでも調べに應じると述べている

日本品流入を恐る

カナダ製造業協會が政府に進言

【モントリオル發】カナダ製造業協會では先週モントリオルにおける同協會幹部理事會の結果、オタワ政府に對し、日本に最惠國待遇を與えないよう進言を行った。この進言について協會側の説明によると、もしカナダ政府が日本を最惠國待遇とするならばカナダの産業はとても競爭にならぬ安價な日本品のため大打擊をうけるであろうというのである同協會のこの進言は過日桑港で調印された對日講和條約中の一項によって發せられたものであるが、この一項には講和發效後四年間は各連合國に對し最惠國待遇を與えることになっている。しかし連合國がかかる待遇を日本に與えるときのみ日本も之に應じることになっている、カナダは日本との間にかかる關係を持つことはカナダ製業者にとっては得策でないということを主張する進言なのである

總督にはカナダ人を選べ

英帝の御名代として親任されるカナダ總督は現在までカナダ政府の推薦する人物を英帝が御承認された上で任期五年としてカナダ總督となるのであるが、カナダ國民の世論調査によると、カナダ總督は英國から任命せず、カナダ人を選んだ方がよいという傾向が最近いちじるしくなってきたことを示している。すなわち「總督は英國からという慣わしだが、カナダ人がこの地位に選ばれることを認めますか」という質問に對する回答次の通り

△英國から 二二パーセント
△カナダから 五三パーセント
△全然廢止せよ 一三パーセント
△意見なし 一二パーセント

New Deal for Toronto Badminton

Year after year as the leaves change color, it is a signal for white-shorted figures to start flicking that feather kicker and yo[illegible] as they cavort on maple courts. This year is no exception as a large number of players are looking forward to a full and active semester.

To these shuttlers and the many others who are contemplating taking up the pastime, Roy Shin the effervescent prexy of the JCCA badminton Club, has some great tidings that should make them dance with glee. It is a well-known fact that many would-be-feather swatters in the past years were gravely dismayed to find that the available clubs had the "membership full sign" up even before the season was well on the way.

In addition to the JCCA units at the All Nations gym and Trinity gyms, he has acquired the use of the 2-court gym at Eastern Commerce and the brand-new UNF gym. As each gym with two courts should accomodate 40 players each, at least 160 players could be made happy.

This super expanded plan was revealed at the recently held club meeting, in which popular Roy was unanimously re-elected to lead the club. His slate of officers include secretary Toshi Takasaki who was also re-elected, Tats Harida as the vice, with the treasury in charge of Chiz Fukasaka and the social dept. in charge of Kay Ogaki and Michi Ashikawa.

The playing times were announced as follows: All nations, Tuesdays, 8-10:30 p.m. starting Oct. 2; Eastern Commerce Wednesdays, 7-10 p.m. starting Oct. 10; Trinity, Saturdays, 7-10:30 p.m., starting Oct. 6; UNF, Sundays, 2-5 p.m., starting Oct. 7. The JCCA Jrs. are also slated to get under way Saturday Oct. 6, 2-5 p.m. at the All Nations gym.

The fees which are payable in full by Nov. 15 have been set at $10 for All Nations, Eastern Commerce and UNF with members at UNF paying 25c each time to help defray the extra cost. Trinity remains the same at $8. In order that the least time will be lost to get the clubs under way, those wishing to play are requested to phone Matt Matsui, MI. 9633, immediately with preference as to the gym. Would-be members may also contact the officials at the various gyms. New members are advised to bring along their playing togs on opening nights.

The meeting also endorsed the [illegible] of reps in the "A" and "B" sections of the Inter-Church [illegible] as of previous years, as [illegible] felt it was the best way [illegible] competition and gain [illegible] experience. Nisei Flashes on Grid With Two Touchdowns

Last week at Broadview Field Frank Ueda powered the Riverdale Seniors to a [illegible] smacking over Parkdale in a Toronto Secondary School Athletic Association (TSSAA) football opener.

The young Nisei halfback scampered over the line for two touchdowns.

Riverdale is regarded as one of the strong contenders for the Toronto high school football crown this year. Ueda is one of many Niseis getting spots on high school squads in Toronto this fall.

Fan Club Formed To Boost Westerns

The Western Baseball Supporters Association (Koyenkai) was formed at a meeting on Sunday, Sept. 30 in order to form a group to support the Westerns organization which consists of five teams in the senior, junior, juvenile, midgit and bantam leagues in Toronto.

It was decided to start a campaign for members. Membership fees will consist of a sum of $3.00 per year to cover the term 1951-52.

A temporary committee was formed with T. Kadenaga nominated chairman. Other officials include Y. Kanda, treasurer and K. Narnishi, secretary as well as twelve others on the committee body.

The committee will carry on the business until next spring when a general meeting will be held. Before the start of the season, a fund drive will be launched to canvass donations from the public.

Official Nisei Umpire

PORTLAND, Ore. — The only Nisei who is believed to be a member of the American National Umpires Association is Frank M. Furukawa who recently completed the season by officiating at the Oregon State semi-pro tournament. Furukawa umpires college and high school games as well as semi-pro contests.

Hockey Winds Blow Again in Niseiville

Niseis who are eligible to play junior hockey (under 21) are asked to get in contact with Mas Nakao, manager of the Nisei Flyers who are readying to start their fourth campaign in the Toronto Hockey League. Nakao is in need of several hard-hitting defensemen at the moment.

Niseis of any age who are interested in playing hockey this year for the Nisei league or persons interested in icing a team should contact Matt Matsui MI. 9633 immediately. The formation of a Nisei league depends on favorable response and interest.

This season, the league, if formed, will be able to find suitable ice facilities at one of the city's four newly-made artificial ice-rinks outdoor and at reasonable hours as a departure from the poor playing conditions of other seasons which had hampered activity.

Busseis to Usher In New Bowling Season

MONTREAL — The long awaited Bussei Bowling League is scheduled to get underway on Sunday, Oct. 14, at 6:30 p.m., at the "Bowl A-Away" Alleys, at 280 St. Zotique St. East.

There is still room for more bowlers and anyone wishing to bowl is asked to get in touch with George Nakano, LA. 6122, or Toshie Shinya, GR. 7932. Beginners are extended a special welcome.

Darkhorse Teams Upset Last Year's Major Leaders

Last year it was Spadina Bowling and Moonlight Grill who contested the leadership of the Major League. Spadina led comfortably most of the way, while Moonlight, coming from way back rampaged to challenge the leader. Nobody else had much of a chance.

But don't bet your money on either of them. Last week in the second week of rolling, they both took it on the chin. And they were beaten by new entries, teams whose strengths are still regarded as unkown factors. Last year's champs, Spadina, was blanked 7-0 by Busseis while Moonlight was downed 5-2 by Family Co-Op.

Wasser's Radio, another newcomer, scored a 7-0 victory over Sammy's. Other results were Takeda Insurance 7, Lewis Men's Wear 0; Urabe Insurance 7, Sea Breeze 0; Sora Construction 5, El Mocambo 2; Yamada 5, Lowe 2; Best 7, Manny's 0.

Eddie Nakamura who transferred from the disbanded O. K. Cleaners to Yamadas scored the highest of the new season with 856 which included a 346 and 305 games. Joe Ito 846 (342) and newcomer Ken Hayashi 829, (323) were other 800 scorers.

TOR. GOLFERS SET FINAL TOURNEY

The Toronto Japanese Canadian Golf Club will hold their final tournament of the current season at the Rouge Hills Golf and Country Club starting at 7 a.m., on Sunday, Oct. 7.

This will be the annual team match in which the entire club will be divided into two teams, Red and White.

The tourney will be played under the best ball, Nassau system of scoring in which the foursomes will be divided into partners and the best score for each hole by either of the partners will be the official score of the hole. In this way there will be only two scores carded by the opposing partners.

Three points are awarded for each foursome, one for the first nine, one for the second, and one for the total aggregate.
for the total aggregate. Any ties in scores will be halved.

Presentation of cups and trophies will be made at the dinner to be held at the International Chop Suey at 6 p.m. The losing team will be charged $3.00 each and the winning side $2.00. Wives and friends are invited to attend.

Any member who cannot play in the tourney is asked to contact Harold Kutsukake, GR. 1307, before Friday, Oct. 5.

Maybe for Toronto?

Veeck's St. Louis Browns To Try Japanese Pitcher

Don't count on it but there's a long chance that Toronto may get a view of a Japanese ball-player playing at the Fleet St. stadium, the home of the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The latest is that the first baseball player of Japanese descent to work out with a major league baseball club will be Atsushi Aramaki, pitcher for the Tokyo Mainichi Orions of the Japanese Pacific (professional) league. According to a report, Aramaki is said to have accepted an offer from owner Bill Veeck to go to spring training with the St. Louis Browns in California next spring.

Veeck saw Aramaki in action last spring when the Orions played in Honolulu. When he acquired the St. Louis Browns last summer, Veeck had intimated that [illegible] to sign Japanese [illegible] the ever-[illegible] Browns, and Aramaki [illegible] as a possibility.

Whether Aramaki or for that [illegible] player in Japan [illegible] good enough [illegible] doubtful, and [illegible] attempt by [illegible] up the [illegible] if Aramaki turns [illegible] a fair player and Veeck [illegible] a contract, it could [illegible] possible that he could land right here in Toronto, the top club in the Brown farm system.

And considering that the Japanese population in Toronto is the largest in Canada, Jack Cooke, who runs somewhat parallel to Veeck in ideas about how to run a ball club, might decide that he would be a good attraction to add to the attendance of his Maple Leafs.

Aramaki this year had only a so-so season in Japan, being hampered by an elbow injury so whether he could stick as high as triple A becomes very doubtful. In any case, we should be hearing more about him.

Young Mother Wins Car By Catching Big Fish

SEATTLE, Wash. — A young mother of two boys, Mrs. Fumi Sakamoto, took part in the Seattle Times Salmon Derby last week and won a Plymouth sedan.

One of 72 women among 953 fishermen who qualified for the finals, she took the third largest fish, a 11-pound 3-ounce blackmouth, and became one of five winners of cars.

Mrs. Sakamoto was one of a number of Nisei and Issei fishermen who took part in the derby.

Japanese Hurler Dies After Getting Batter

TOKYO — A 15-year-old pitcher for a high school in Kyoto, fatally injured by a line drive, tossed out the batter before dying, Kyodo News Agency reported last week.

Kenichi Okubo put one across the plate in the second inning that the young batter, name and age withheld by authorities —smashed back to the pitcher's box.

The ball struck Okubo in the stomach, but he picked it up and tossed it to first base, beating the runner.

Then Okubo fell, dead.

NISEI NOVEL

off of Captain Whitfield's clipper ship at New Bedford, Mass., in 1844.

The books by Messrs. McWilliams, Grodzins and Smith, together with such specialized treatments on the evacuation as Ilexander Leighton's "The Governing of Men" (Princeton University Press, 1946) and "The Spoilage" by Dorothy Thomas and Richard Nishimoto (University of California Press), present a wealth of documentation about the Japanese Americans and their wartime predicament but, in most cases, these books have had only a limited audience, consisting mainly of persons already informed on the Nisei story. The JACL, however, distributed several hundred copies of "Americans Betrayed" to Congressmen and other public officials.

None of these books has been able to approximate the audience which would be reached by a popular novel. The only book about a Nisei which has had relatively wide circulation was Ralph G. Martin's biography of Ben Kuroki, "The Boy from Nebraska," (Harper & Brothers, 1946) which sold out two editions, totaling some 10,000 copies, and also a special Armed Forces edition of 25,000.

The Nisei have now won their fight for public acceptance, a battle which was in doubt early in World War II before the nation learned of the exploits of Nisei servicemen in Europe and in the Pacific. There is no longer any need to do a novel with a Nisei theme as an instrument for favorable propaganda. The Nisei story is one, however, which will challenge the novelist as an example of the behavior of human beings in a time of crisis. It can be, incidentally, a story with a happy ending.

Quebec Golf Club To Present Trophies

MONTREAL — The Quebec Japanese Canadian Golf Club's general meeting of 1951 met with a successful turnout when it convened at St. Raphael's House on Wed., Sept. 19.

An election of new officers took place with Charles Tanaka chosen as president. Others in the executive include Fred Kobayashi, chairman; Ralph Horiuchi, secretary-treasurer; Herbie Tanaka, club captain; Hiro Yamamoto, auditor; Sam Toguri, sub-chairman; Bernie Yokota, Aki Namba, and Yo Kato, tournament committee.

The club is planning a wind-up social on Sat., Oct. 20, starting from 8 p.m., to end the successful season.

Trophies will be presented to the winners of the 1951 36-holes Low Gross and Low Net Championship Golf Tournament. Low Gross was won by Herbie Tanaka, last year's winner, with a score of 169. Low net honours go to Bernie Yokota who toured the last 18 holes with a blazing finish to win with a score of net 156.

The social will be an open affair. Everyone is welcome, especially those who are interested in golf.
